On 13 December 1946, the Constituent Assembly formally commenced its task of framing the Constitution of India. Jawaharlal Nehru moved the Objectives Resolution, which aimed to declare India as an Independent Sovereign Republic and create a Constitution to govern its future. On January 26, 1950, the Constituent Assembly adopted the Constitution of India

Constituent Assembly Debates

The Constituent Assembly met between 1947 and 1949 and ratified the Constitution of India on 26th January 1950. These arguments are crucial to understanding the origins of our democracy.

Mahavir Tyagi
on Sun Oct 16 1949

When we allow the Provincial Governments to pick a pie from the private pocket of an individual citizen, we should see to it that it is obtained only willingly, and that every pie that we drawn from the pocket of a private individual must ultimately go back to him either in the shape of services rendered to that individual or in the shape of an enhanced sum returned to him. Today in India hundreds of taxes are being realised, and the people do not really get any substantial benefit out of these taxes, either in the shape of additional 'prosperity' which they are told to expect from Government or any other kind of service. Whatever little service the State renders here in India is a further charge on the people. For instance, there are the railways which is an amenity given to people, but then it is run on a commercial basis and people are to pay for it. The telegraphs, the Post Office, the canals and everything else which go as services, we make extra charges for them. The State renders no free service to the people except a few dozes of quinine mixtures mixed with water that the State gives free to some poor people. Otherwise even doctors charge their fees and treat the people on payment. So we see that the State is not actually rendering any free service except that we are giving our citizens a psychological satisfaction to enjoy in their belief that they are a free people. They do not know what is the value of freedom. State justifies taxation on the plea that it defends the borders against wars. Wars never come alone, and when a war comes, it brings an extra tax along.

Promotion of Tea Industry In U.P.

*87. SHRI HARISH RAWAT: Will the Minister of COMMERCE AND TOURISM be pleased to state:

(a) whether any special scheme has been formulated by Government to promote tea industry in Uttar Pradesh; and

(b) if so, the details of assistance provided to the State under this scheme so far?

[English]

THE MINISTER OF COMMERCE AND TOURISM (SHRI ARUN KUMAR NEHRU): (a) and (b). A statement is given below.

STATEMENT

The following steps have been taken for promotion of Tea industry in Uttar Pradesh.

- (i) A Study was conducted by officials from Tea Board of tea areas in Kumaon hills and Doon Valley of Uttar Pradesh in September, 1987.
- (ii) Based on the Study Report and the interaction with the State Government, a two-prolonged strategy is being evolved for the development of the Tea industry in Uttar Pradesh in two phases. This includes:—
  - (a) rejuvenation of existing tea gardens after ascertaining the cause of their delay; and
  - (b) identification of new areas in the hilly districts of Uttar Pradesh, including the Terai region, which have the potential for growing tea. With this end in view and based on the suggestion of the State Government. Tea Board has sanctioned the cost of funding and an feasibility-cum-pre-investment study for growing tea in the State, and preparation of a rehabilitation Scheme for six sick tea units for submission of financial institutions.
